GENDER BASED VIOLENCE

Does your party's platform have an official policy position on gender-based violence?

NDP	Yes
Liberal	Yes

Gender-based violence is a broad, multifaceted issue. What facets of it do you see as a priority to address within your community?

NDP	The Ontario NDP is committed to applying an intersectional gender lens to all government programs, policy, and legislation, including those directed at ending gender-based violence and supporting GBV survivors. No one should live in fear of abuse because they can't afford to leave or they have nowhere to go. We will properly fund women's shelters and transitional housing and will set aside a portion of the 100,000 units of affordable housing we are building for women and their families escaping violence. We will improve women's economic security by increasing the minimum wage to $20 by 2026, providing 10 paid sick days, and ending the misclassification of gig and contract workers. We will increase compensation for care workers, the majority of whom are women, by repealing Bill 124, and increasing wages for PSWs and child care workers. We will also double ODSP rates by our second year in office, beginning with an immediate 20 percent increase to social assistance. Our plan for Universal, Publicly Funded Mental Health Care will offer no-cost counselling and therapy for all Ontarians, ensuring public access to psychotherapy for the approximately 500,000 Ontarians who do not have access to counselling and therapy services through an insurance plan. The NDP will implement the recommendations of the Domestic Violence Death Review Committee to prevent more Ontario women and children from dying at the hands of an intimate partner.
Liberal	The Ontario Liberals strongly advocate for the safety of women and have supported by funding programming and legal aid supports previously.

RACISM AND OPPRESSION

Racist and xenophobic violence and discrimination against Asian people has been exacerbated by the Covid-19 pandemic. Do you believe that anti-Asian racism is a pressing issue in your riding and the London-Middlesex community?

Does your party have a plan to address anti-Asian racism in Canada?

Green

Do you have any policy priorities that you feel would effectively address anti-Asian racism?

NDP	We will appoint a minister for anti-racism and establish a fully-funded, independent and empowered Anti-Racism Secretariat to take the lead on this critical work. We will also establish a permanent Ontario Anti-Racism Advisory and Advocacy Council that meets regularly with the minister responsible and ensures that racialized communities have a seat at the table and are involved in developing government policies that affect their lives. We will implement an anti-racism strategy in our schools and post-secondary institutions that addresses and fights anti-Indigenous racism, anti-Black racism, anti-Asian racism, anti-semitism, Islamophobia and all forms of systemic racism, so that all children and students feel welcome and safe. We also introduce mandatory anti-oppression and anti-bias training for all public employees and legislators. We will adequately fund and support community organizations that are currently engaged in anti-racism work.
Liberal	Anti-Asian racism has no place in our society. The Ontario Liberals will be working to create a Cabinet Minister role dedicated to fighting racism. Additionally, they will work with Police

	Services to ensure regular training for de-escalation, anti-racism, cultural sensitivity and mental health. Plus, work to create a new fund to hire more diverse and underrepresented police officers.

Anti-Black racism is prevalent in Canadian society from the senseless murders of Black people by police, to the disproportionate effect of COVID-19 on Black communities. Does your party have a plan to address anti-Black racism in Canada?

NDP	Yes
Liberal	Yes
Conservative
Green

Do you have any policy priorities that you feel would effectively address anti-Black racism?

NDP	We will recognize anti-Black racism as a public health crisis. We will implement a province-wide anti-racism strategy that specifically addresses anti-Black racism and works to dismantle organized hate groups and systemic discrimination. We will mandate race-based data collection across all ministries; create a real COVID-19 equity plan that ensures the hardest hit communities – including Asian and Black communities, and the essential workers who are often racialized – get the respect and direct financial support they deserve to recover from the pandemic. The Ontario NDP, working in partnership with the National Council of Canadian Muslims and Muslim leaders in London and across the province, tabled Our London Family Act, which sets out concrete actions to combat Islamophobia, organized hate, racism and white supremacy. We will continue to support and advance legislation that protects communities from xenophobic attacks, and pledge to dismantle white supremacist organizations currently operating in Ontario.
Liberal	Ontario Liberals are working towards more equity, especially against anti-Black racism. We know that streaming in the public school system, disproportionately affects Black students. Ontario Liberals will de-stream this practice. The ON Liberals will refresh Ontario’s 2017 Anti-Black Racism Strategy and provide $5 million to Black historical sites and community centres and $10 million in grants to help support Black entrepreneurs and small businesses.

What does the phrase “defunding the police” mean to you? Does your party support this call to action?

NDP	The Ontario NDP has a plan to put mental health supports at the centre of community safety, end unlawful and unauthorized use of force by police and ensure police are accountable for their actions, and invest in strong community supports for Black, racialized, and Indigenous communities. We will restore community trust by ensuring that police oversight bodies are effective, responsive, and truly independent and transparent, including the SIU, so that the system is accountable to communities. We will fund and implement alternative first responders in cases of mental health and addictions crises, homelessness and school discipline calls. We will ensure alternative first responders are trained in antiracism, anti-oppression, de-escalation tactics, and culturally responsive care. We will truly end the racist, discriminatory practice of carding, and destroy the data that has been collected through carding.
Liberal	I see the phrase as fixing our current system pertaining to police services. Ontario Liberals propose to do the following: *Create a new fund to hire and incent more diverse and underrepresented police officers, in addition to existing planned policing hires *Ensure regular police training for de-escalation, anti-racism, cultural sensitivity and mental health *Require police services to disclose annual statistics regarding the diversity of their officers, leadership and police service boards

Following the unspeakable anti-Muslim hatred and terrorism that took place in London in 2021, a conversation was reignited regarding anti-Muslim hate. Does your party have a plan to address anti-Muslim hate in Canada??

NDP	Yes
Liberal	Yes

Green

Do you have any policy priorities that you feel would effectively address anti-Muslim hate??

NDP	We will immediately pass Our London Family Act, which sets out concrete steps to combat anti-Muslim hate. The bill was introduced by the Ontario NDP, in partnership with the National Council of Canadian Muslims and Muslim leaders in London and across the province, and sets out concrete actions to tackle Islamophobia, organized hate, racism and white supremacy. These include launching a provincial review of hate crimes in Ontario, tools for Ontario schools to combat all forms of racism, safe zones around religious institutions which are often targets of hate and intimidation, and preventing white supremacist groups from registering as societies. We will implement a province-wide anti-racism strategy that specifically addresses anti-Muslim hate and works to dismantle organized hate groups and systemic discrimination.
Liberal	Ontario Liberals would immediately pass Our London Family Act to create new tools and strategies to combat racism. Plus, *Reverse Conservative funding cuts to anti-racism programs *Enhanced Crown Attorney units dedicated to advising police and prosecuting hate crimes and extend the period for putting forward human rights complaints from one to five years *New laws to protect our churches, synagogues, mosques, temples, gurudwaras and other faith institutions from violence and intimidation *Create a Cabinet Minister dedicated to fighting racism

Bill 86, also known as the “Our London Family” Act failed to get support in Queens Park prior to the election. The Bill, created by the NDP and in conjunction with the National Council of Canadian Muslims focused on fighting Islamophobia in the wake of the hate motivated attack in London that killed four members of the Afzaal family. Please share with us your thoughts on this Bill, and what you would do differently to pass legislation that addresses anti-Muslim hate.

NDP	It is an urgent, community-driven piece of legislation that needs to be passed immediately.
Liberal	Bill 86, is very important for Muslims, such as myself, but also for all groups who face hate. We are thankful for the comprehensive and quick work done by NCCM and local advocacy group, Hikma on this Bill. The ON Liberals would ensure that Bill 86 immediately passed without delays.

What is your plan to respond to the 'Calls for Justice for All Governments' from the final report of the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls?

NDP	We recognize that the legacy of colonialism and systemic racism have real, daily impacts on Indigenous peoples, and that reconciliation demands action, not just symbolic gestures. We are committed to working with Indigenous communities to implement the calls to justice of the National Inquiry into Murdered and Missing Women and Girls (MMIWG) in a community-led process, and to working with First Nations in a true government-to-government relationship to implement the recommendations of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission. We will uphold the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and apply it to provincial laws. We will ensure that school curriculum includes the full, rich story of Indigenous peoples, the lasting impacts of colonialism and residential schools, and the need for reconciliation. We will establish the National Day for Truth and Reconciliation as a provincial statutory holiday. We will establish a provincial strategy to address the suicide crisis among First Nations youth, and work with the federal government to ensure targeted funding to improve mental health, on and off reserve. We will create a for-Indigenous-by-Indigenous Housing strategy in partnership with Indigenous-led housing providers and the federal government, and work with First Nations, Métis, and Inuit communities to transform and establish community control of child welfare. We will support expanding primary health care services to meet the unique needs of Indigenous peoples, including training more community health workers from northern Treaty communities. We will restore the Indigenous Culture Fund to strengthen opportunities for Indigenous artists. We will support and work with First Nations to identify burial site locations of children at Indian residential schools, and commission a monument to recognize the victims of the Indian residential school system in accordance with TRC Call to Action 82.
Liberal	I am in agreement that much work needs to be done to have acknowledgement, equity, and action towards undoing the pain and harm indigenous women & girls have endured. Basic rights are the starting point in terms of having equitable access to all the essentials (housing, education, health care, etc.) with safety first! I will work towards the steps needed to support MMIWG2 in the best way possible.

Do you have any policy priorities that you feel would make sex work safer and/or prevent the need for survival-based sex work?

NDP	We need a harm reduction and human rights strategy that protects the health and safety of sex workers, makes their lives safer, and removes barriers to sex workers accessing the health care and other community and social supports.
Liberal	Usage of the word 'survival' in the work demonstrates the realities. It's essential we offer a supportive framework of services so individuals are not in survival mode. I would want to ensure number 1, that individuals are safe, not being exploited or coerced into harmful situations. I would be willing to support with mental health, employment training, housing initiatives that could provide support to individuals.

Human trafficking is a major concern in our community. However, sex work is often incorrectly conflated with human trafficking. Knowing that sex work and human trafficking are not the same issue, how does your party plan to address human trafficking, including labour trafficking and sex trafficking in a manner that does not infringe upon the rights and safety of sex workers?

NDP	We will apply an intersectional gender equity lens to human trafficking, with a focus on ending the trafficking of minors and exploited persons while ensuring that sex workers are not driven into more dangerous working conditions. We will also address the root causes that make marginalized and vulnerable people vulnerable to trafficking, especially by reforming the child welfare system.

Social housing waitlists are growing in London-Middlesex. What initiatives would your party implement to ensure that more people have access to social housing in a timely manner?

NDP	Through a new public agency, Housing Ontario, we will build 250,000 new affordable and non-market homes over 10 years. This includes building 100,000 new affordable homes, charging rents that will be geared to income, as well as building at least 150,000 new non-market homes, charging below-market rents, with affordability enhanced further through inclusionary zoning policies, access to public land, and income supports. Housing Ontario would have a mandate not just to facilitate the development of housing but to establish livable mixed income communities – partnering with co-ops and non-profits to achieve these goals. We will also repair 260,000 existing social housing units, provide income supports to 311,000 tenant households, and build 60,000 new supportive housing units. Through Housing Ontario, we will purchase and rehabilitate existing privately-owned rental buildings, converting them to non-market, permanently protecting these tenants from speculation and housing financialization. We will protect tenants by bringing back real rent control, ending vacancy decontrol, and fixing the problems with the Landlord-Tenant Board to crack down on exploitative landlords, so people aren't forced out of affordable housing and onto waitlists for social housing.

Do you have any policy priorities that you feel would make the justice system in Ontario and its services equitable, accessible, and fair for survivors of sexual violence and family violence?

NDP	Ontario’s family law system has been in crisis for more than a decade. Community Legal Clinics are being impeded from doing their vital work — helping with ODSP applications and appeals, helping women get child support payments from absent parents. Specialty Legal Clinics, advocating for at-risk groups, need support. Duty counsel in criminal courthouses is critically understaffed, resulting in significant court delays and worse outcomes for all parties. Legal Aid certificates, for criminal and family cases, are available to very few people, and even then people struggle to find lawyers who will accept them. The NDP will reverse Doug Ford’s 30 percent cut to Legal Aid and start fixing the inadequacies of Ontario’s legal aid system. We have consistently advocated for increased funding for the Family Court Support Worker program, and will increase funding for summary legal advice, unbundled legal services, and public interest litigation, and ensure more people qualify for legal assistance. We will increase resources for criminal diversion programs and dedicated diversion courts to ensure people with mental health and addiction issues, as well as young and underhoused people, are not caught in a self-perpetuating cycle of criminality. We will fix Ontario’s broken tribunal system by creating an independent Adjudicative Tribunal Justice Council to ensure tribunals are fully staffed with impartial expert adjudicators and vacancies are filled in a timely manner.

What commitments would you make and what initiatives would your party implement to expand harm reduction services?

NDP	The NDP is committed to investing in mental health and addictions supports so Ontarians everywhere in the province can get the care they need when they need it. We will immediately declare the opioid crisis a public health emergency. We will invest in addiction rehabilitation, detox centres, and harm reduction strategies equitably across the province. We will provide an 8 percent funding boost for frontline mental health and addictions agencies and ensure ongoing sustainable funding. We will remove the cap Doug Ford placed on supervised consumption sites, expedite approvals for supervised consumption sites in the north, and work to ensure safer alternatives to the current toxic and deadly supply of drugs available on the street. We will also work with the federal government to reduce the stigma of drug addiction and decriminalize personal drug use, so people can get the medical help they need. We will invest $10 million more into mobile crisis services and $7 million more for safe bed programs to support mobile crisis teams. We will work towards establishing 24-hour civilian community mobile teams across the province to operate in partnership with Mobile Crisis Response Teams and respond to low-risk crisis situations.

The aftermath of Orientation Week opened up a conversation about sexual violence on campus, with hundreds of students sharing their experience of gender-based and sexual violence on campus. Do you have any policy priorities that you feel would effectively address gender-based and sexual violence on post-secondary campuses?

NDP	We will improve accountability for campus sexual assault policies and use a whole-of-government approach to end gender-based violence on campuses, in workplaces, and in the community through education, prevention, and training. We will require post-secondary institutions to update their policies on sexual violence reporting to reflect calls from survivors and advocates, support survivors, and protect them from further harm. We will fund culturally competent, trauma-informed services, investing to ensure that post-secondary institutions have properly funded, survivor-centred services and staff. In April 2022, the Ontario NDP introduced the Safe Night Out Act, which requires mandatory evidence-based, trauma-informed sexual violence and harassment prevention training for servers, security guards and supervisors in licensed premises, and improves health and safety protections respecting workplace harassment, workplace sexual harassment and workplace violence.
